ORIP GIVING AWAY. The withdrawal of Attorney General Williams' name from before the Senate, by President Grant, for the responsible posttion of Supreme Judge, was evidence cou the Republican party is giving way, and o the councils of the nation. It, no being the first time in his Presidential experience that a personal appeal of his was until his term expires, he will not part of the Senate will lead to others, and self-willed man, but has not the political magnetism to stuck to him the party leadere of the West, the home of the agricultural masses, lead by Kasson, of Iowa, and having surrounded blusself by men of medi-crity, every effect that they may make to return his past prestige and pew Hence it requires no telescopic powers to ook into the future and discern that the his career, and that the refusal on the parof the Senate to ratify the applintment of Gen. Williams was but the beginning of the future. The investigations now going dier, makes anything else than a wise, judicious or creditable President.

The St. Louis press demanded that he be confirmed by the headed by the Kansas City Timeclamor that he shall be guillotined. We should regret this. To Frank Biair, Mussouri owes much. In our darkest boor, with our bands tied and our most excred rights denied us, Gen, Biair, the Cour de Lion of the Liberal party, struck for us manly and stalwart blows. Who among us forgots his crusade in 1866, when his life was threatened, but he treated such threats with contempt and spoke, the state over, denounce ing Drake and his infamous constitution in terms severe but deserved? ed in his defense of our rights, and cal life till now, he bue a record unimpeachable, save his vote alluded to poverty, take from him the office eulpability in high places that he needs to provide bread for a stigma upon our party. Two wrongs never made a right, and to refuse to confirm the noblest Roman of them all, by the Missouri Senate, would be anything but creditable to that budy or the party.

Since the above was in type, we learn Blair has been confirmed by vote of 23 to 11.
